What is Ataxia??

- It's not a Taxi!!!

What is happening to Alec

- Loss of coordination and balance – so, sometimes he falls or stumbles and has a hard time walking. Clumsy

- Running might be harder or going up the stairs.....he will get to ride the elevator in 6th grade with a buddy!!!

What is happening to Alec

- Slower at writing or doing other things that most kids can do faster....
- Alec might get tired more easily because Ataxia can make your heart work harder so you get more tired out.

In school you may observe

- ❑ Alec misses some classes for doctor appointments
- ❑ School specialists working one-on-one with Alec
- ❑ Alec may need more time completing classwork and tests
- ❑ He may leave class a few minutes early to avoid crowds in the hallways

What Ataxia is NOT

- You can't catch it!!
 - ▣ Alec inherited this disorder in the same way you inherited blue or brown eyes
- It does not touch your brain
 - ▣ Alec will always be SMART and likes to have FUN and be a great friend!!
 - ▣ He will still work hard!
 - ▣ He still has the same homework as you!!!
- Is not common
 - ▣ Only 1 in 50,000 have it

Things Alec does to keep him strong

- ❑ Exercises at school with help from a physical therapist
- ❑ Plays recreational sports at home and with friends: basketball, tennis, kickball, play catch
- ❑ Takes swim lessons
- ❑ Eats healthy food, including berries, nuts, smoothies and vegetables
- ❑ Sees many doctors regularly to monitor his heart, bones, and central nervous system
- ❑ Takes vitamins every day because researchers think they can help
- ❑ Alec is joining a gym

What YOU can do to help 😊

- ❑ Be a good friend!!!
- ❑ Stop others from making fun of him.
- ❑ Remember, if he bumps into you, it's probably not on purpose.
- ❑ Help him if he wants – like carry his books or carry his tray in the cafeteria
- ❑ Be patient

Remember, he's the same Alec you've known all these years

The best part about Ataxia is the support I receive...
